

Badges & Uniforms

- How do we show our allegiance to something?
  - show all the badges and uniforms
  - even things like way we dress, posters we put up on our bedroom walls...
- Baptism as a sign of belonging, of declaring allegiance to Jesus
- When the people in the story were baptised, they were saying they belonged to Jesus.
  - we can be a member of the GB or BB and go to school and like a particular pop group....
  - but being baptised is a way of saying that Jesus isn't just one of the things you belong to, he's the most important, the top priority
- They were saying: magic isn't able to really help us; only Jesus can
  - he's the one who has healed all these people!
- And when a parent gets their child baptised, or when someone comes and gets baptised as an adult, they are declaring that they believe that to true for them too:
  - only Jesus is really able to help us, no matter how powerful or important or clever anything else may seem

Taking a bath

- Those badges tell you something about the thing you belong to:
  - rugby top - strong, tough game
  - Girl's Brigade badge has their logo, which symbolises something of their heritage
  - SU badge has a lamp, reminding of a key verse from the bible, (Psa 119:105) Your word is a lamp to my feet and a light for my path.
  - even school uniform says something: uniforms were partly a way of saying everyone is equal, everyone has as much right and chance to learn as everyone else!
- What does baptism tell you about declaring that you are a follower of Jesus?
  - got a picture of what a baptism might have looked like in Jesus time; this is actually what someone thinks it might have been like when Jesus himself was baptised!
  - what's involved at a baptism? what happens? looking for water!!
- Why do you think water is involved in baptism?
  - symbolise washing!

Why?

- not because we are dirty on the outside!
- but because we are dirty on the inside!
- Dirt is sin:
  - wrong things done, said, thought; things we need to say sorry for!
- The water that is sprinkled on or that someone is covered in at a baptism doesn't wash away the sin!
  - but it reminds us that we can become Christians, become friends with God because Jesus has washed away our sin
- So when someone is baptised they are saying, by their actions:
  - I'm a sinner; I've done bad stuff; I need Jesus to wash me; and I'm happy to stand out and declare he has washed me!
  - that's why I think he's the most important person in my life!
- For the early Christians baptism reminded them of something else too:
  - when a person was baptised they were completely immersed;
  - the early Christians saw in that a reminder of Jesus dying, going down into the tomb, but then coming alive again!
  - so being baptised was like dying to our old life (without God) and coming alive into a new life, with Jesus as our friend and Lord!
- Wow!

Plant Analogy

- Seed scattered in persecution
  - focus on one plot of land - Samaria
- Seed germinates through preaching
- Seed grows as Spirit comes

- Separation of acceptance of Christ in saving faith and coming of Spirit is not the norm!
  - allows for very particular affirmation of Spirit coming on them with official sanction from Jerusalem
  - schismatic Samaritans!

Power Struggle

- Power of magic in Simon
  - however we interpret his claims to divinity or otherwise, the nature of his magic powers
  - he had influence and power

- Into this situation comes the gospel, carried by Philip:
  - who is going to win the struggle, whose power is greater?
  - even the one known as "The Great Power" could not stand up to Jesus!
  - and so many accept the good news, a good news that liberates and brings healing and release, not captivity to a boaster and an influence grabber!
- This is the true nature of the gospel:
  - powerful, and able to transform for the good whole lives and indeed communities

Imperfect Christians

- Final thing that is worth pondering in this passage is how it deals with the reality of imperfect Christians:
  - Simon seems to have come to a genuine faith;
  - yet he is still besotted with power - following Philip around watching the miracles!
  - when the Holy Spirit is given, he senses that here is the source of the power that energised Philip's preaching and healing
  - and, crudely, he wants a piece of the action!
- His fundamental priority - his own and influence - has been so far unaffected by the gospel
  - he may well be saying, "Lord, Lord" to Jesus, but his actions and attitudes belie that profession!
  - and he is in danger big time!
  - he is still captive to - and maybe captivate by - sin

- Warning & encouragement here for us:
  - this is a dangerous situation, one it is perilous to allow to continue
  - but it is also one out of which there is way: repentance and prayer
  - none of us are perfect Christians, sorted Christians, we are all imperfect to some degree
  - we all stand with Simon
- Not told how Simon ended up.... not told how we will end up... we have choice... how will we choose?
